

What this file is. The full re-build of the July 2026 model on the H1-2026 disclosure set: the KPMG-reviewed consolidated interim financial statements of 30 June 2026 and the 2Q/1H26 results release, both published 11 August 2026.

Blue cells are inputs – every one is a disclosed figure, a sourced market quote, or a stated modelling decision, annotated where it sits. Black cells are firmakes: change a blue driver on the Assumptions sheet and the fair value repeats through Segments, the cash-flow model, the holding bridge and the summary.

The contested stake is computed both ways, side by side, and never averaged: MNT-Halan at the June-2026 funding-round mark (USD 1.4bn, first close) and at the company's own balance-sheet carrying value (EGP 15.72bn, equity method, which the reviewer could not verify – a qualified review conclusion, second consecutive period). The two SOTP and central values are shown in parallel everywhere.

The price-probability sheet reproduces the site's published price map unchanged (struck 22 July 2026). This refresh moves the fundamental fair-value range only; the price map and technical levels are on their own clock and were not re-struck.

Line-of-business revenue is on the results-release basis; per-line margins are anchored on the statements' segment note, whose boundaries differ slightly (statement passenger-car revenue includes after-sales). Flagged here once; both bases are shown on Segments.

All amounts in EGP millions unless stated. Model date 19 August 2026.

GB Corp — fair value at a glance (refresh of 19 August 2026)

Last library close (22-Jul-26)	31.31
Fair value — bear	19.4
Fair value — base (round mark)	34.16
Fair value — central under the balance-sheet mark	29.26
Fair value — bull	47.4
H1-26 group revenue (+35.2%)	48,474.4
H1-26 group net profit (−24.5%)	1,262.0
Automotive net debt, 30-Jun-26 (2.14x EBITDA)	14,493.6
MNT-Halan gap, per share (round vs book, post-discount)	12.23

The July study's range was 23.3 / 35.7 / 51. The base barely moves; the bear deepens because the company's own accounts now carry the contested stake at half the round, under a qualified review.

Four lenses, one field — the synthesis (both framings of the contested stake)

The gap between the two columns is one judgement: EGP 14,754m of MNT-Halan mark — 12.23 per share after the discount. The reviewer could not verify the balance-sheet figure (qualified conclusion); the round is real third-party money but a first close with a second pending. Neither is averaged away.

Bear cases (operating bear + leg haircuts + 18% discount)	17.40	8.97
Bull cases (operating bull + 4% discount)	54.72	40.45

Case values re-run the cash-flow model under the shifted drivers described in the study's sensitivity section; recorded here as results of that re-run.

This sheet is a copy, not a computation. The map was struck on the closing library of 22 July 2020 and computed on 28 July 2020 (the page's own stamps: price data 2020-07-22, computed 2020-07-28). This rebroke changes the fundamental fair-value range only: the probability map was NOT re-struck and is four weeks stale against the rebroke date – in 3-month window resolves 23 August 2020. A fresh price data-set re-strikes it on its own clock.
